

Yorba Linda Was Hit Hard

Residents flee on any available street, but traffic was at a standstill.

Some Casino Ridge residents stayed and battled the flames.

Chino Hills State Park on fire as seen from the neighborhood.

Commemorating the 10 Year
Anniversary of the November 2008
Freeway Complex Fire.

A view from the neighborhood of Chino Hills State Park on fire.

The fire's smoke is dark and ominous from the streets.

The Wildland-Urban Interface in Yorba Linda.

Many homes never saw firefighters because the resources were so thin.

This home caught fire from ember intrusion into the attic.

Palm trees spread embers well ahead of the flame front.

Smoke filled the air and clouded the sunlight from view.

Neighbors hosed down rooftops as the flame front approached.

The Esperanza Hills and Cielo Vista properties burn in the fire.

Sometimes the cars didn't make it out and burned to the ground.

What's left behind of a home in Yorba Linda.

This home was gutted from the fire.